Eight Youths Die in Kentucky Car, Train Wreck

SOMERSET, Ky., (AP) — A day of pleasure riding in a railmotor ended in death on a railroad crossing for eight youngsters yesterday.

The youths had been riding around in the 1911 model car all day.

Only minutes before the Southern Railway freight hit them, one boy, scared by what he called "some reckless driving," had left the auto.

Dead were Charles Allen, 13; his two sisters, Frances, 14, and Josephine, 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Richards, 16; James Colhoun, 12; Charles Simmons, 10; and Ronald Davis, 17. All were from Somerset.

Sheriff Gilmore Phelps quoted 15-year-old Donald Hawk as saying he had been riding with the other youngsters but because frightened when some of the boys began wrestling to see who would drive.

Phelps said witnesses told him the car approached the crossing at about 35 to 40 miles an hour with a flat tire and a broken tie rod.

The car, dragged nearly half a mile by the train, burst into flames.

Five of the youths were pinned inside. Three were thrown clear.

Coroner Kenneth Gibbs said the train's crowbar told him the freight was going about 50 miles an hour when it hit the car.

Phelps said an investigation will be held Friday to determine if Continued on page Three

Hot, Humid in the East, Many Deaths

By The Associated Press

Another day of hot and humid weather appeared likely for wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today after a weekend of scorching temperatures.

Deaths attributed to the heat and drownings mounted. At least 39 persons drowned as millions flocked to lakes and streams seeking relief from the oppressive heat.

There was some possibility of a little relief in northern Midwest areas but none in the sunbaked areas in the Middle Atlantic states southward through Georgia.

The Eastern Seaboard, from Virginia to New York, sweltered in the summer's hottest weather yesterday. Thermometers bubbled past the 100-degree mark in many cities, including Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia.

The 103 reading at Baltimore was near the record 104 for the date. Washington sizzled in 101, the highest reading in the nation's capital in three years.

The millions in New York City felt just as hot with a torrid 97.3 degrees, and in Wilmington, Del., the mercury registered 102.

Readings in the 90s were general in many other sections of the country and high humidity added to the discomfort.

Michigan reported 21 persons drowned over the weekend, while New York there were 10 drownings. There were at least 3 each in Illinois and Colorado.

In New Jersey, two men died in Kansas City, Kan., hospitals after suffering heat exhaustion.

A golfer collapsed and died on a course near Chicago and in New York a man collapsed after a tennis match.

Jet Canopy Hits Residential Area

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A metal and plastic plane canopy from an Air National Guard F98 jet interceptor plane crashed into a residential neighborhood in suburban Haverstown yesterday.

The canopy narrowly missed several homes and buried itself in a mound of dirt in the midst of a new housing development. It fell about 50 yards from the nearest dwelling.

The pilot, Lt. Mark Ponferrer, said the canopy ripped loose as he was making his long distance approach to International Airport. He landed safely.

REVITALIZES SHEPPARD CASE — Mystery writer Earle Stanley Gardner, right, interviews Donald Wedler, 23, second from left, in DeLand, Florida, where Wedler's "confession" to the murder of Marilyn Sheppard on July 4, 1954, in Bay Village, Ohio, has sparked new action in the celebrated murder case. Results of a lie detector test given to Wedler under sponsorship of Gardner's "Court of Last Resort" have led to these developments: Dr. Samuel Sheppard, now serving a life prison term for the murder of his wife, has agreed to take a lie detector test at Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus. Guyanaga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber has proposed that the state give Dr. Sheppard the test. Ohio's Governor C. William O'Neill has authorized Gardner's "court" to make the test, prior to Gerber's request. — NEA Telephoto

Lie Test for Sheppard Is Cancelled

By NORMAN G. CORNISH

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (UP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today called off a scheduled lie-detector test for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard until the "truthfulness" of a Florida woman's confession that he killed Mrs. Sheppard can be checked.

O'Neill cancelled the test for the convicted wife slayer after receiving a telegram from the "Court of Last Resort," which is conducted by mystery writer Earle Stanley Gardner and a national magazine.

The telegram said: "We are still not prepared to accept as true the confession of Donald Wedler, but following our examination of him in Florida, we admit to a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard."

"However, no one would form any final opinion on this man (Wedler) until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric examination."

"There are some very important major conflicts between his story and existing facts."

"These conflicts may have been the result of drug reactions and an attempt to rationalize his cats on first night confession."

The governor said he discussed the telegram with Ohio Penitentiary Warden Ralph W. Alvis "and it is my opinion and his that until the truthfulness of this confession is determined, there should be no lie-detector test given to Sheppard."

Objects to Haircut, GI Is Sentenced

FUCHU, Japan, (AP) — A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor.

The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to lose $200 in pay and reduced to the rank of basic airman, third class.

Wheeler contended that he had "challenged" an order to get a "white sidewall" haircut because he had received a regulation Air Force trim only the day before the order was given. A "white sidewall" strips the hair from the ears to the crown, leaving only a fringe on top.

Ex-Arkansian Held in Murder Questioning

CHICAGO (AP) — An ex-Arkansian picked up by FBI agents, faces further questioning today in connection with the unsolved murders of two young Omaha women.

George Daniel Jones Jr., Negro, a former Omaha warehouse laborer, was arrested by FBI agents in a near north side suburb, charging unlawful flight to avoid arrest. Agents said he lived under the alias John D. Phillips.

Jones was questioned by Omaha authorities for two hours yesterday about the fatal shooting last May 20 of Mrs. Rita Kappelman, 21, and the slaying in December, 1935, of Carolyn M. Nevins, 20-year-old University of Omaha co-ed.

Two Officers on Routine Check Killed

EL SEGUNDO, Calif., (UP) — Two police officers were shot and killed without warning today by a crazed gunman while making a routine check of a car's license plates, police reported.

Officers said the two victims, Milton Curtis and Dick Phillips, were members of this city's police force and had stopped a car to check if it was stolen. There were no witnesses to the shooting.

One of the victims managed to blurt out on his patrol car radio after he had been shot, "get an ambulance . . . an ambulance . . . ambulance . . ." Then the radio fell silent.

The two officers on patrol in their squad car had radioed in earlier that they had stopped a man driving what might be a stolen car. They said the man was about 25 years old and weighed 170 pounds.

Police said the car turned out to be stolen. Officers said, the man driving was believed to have held up a service station earlier and also is wanted on a rape charge.

"It was cold blooded murder," a detective said. "They didn't have a chance. They were probably killed while their backs were turned."

Police said the two officers were killed with a small caliber pistol. The officers, both married and had families, didn't even have enough warning to draw their weapons.

No Decision Cash Transfer to Highway Dept.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Comptroller Kelly Cornett today said that no decision had been made on a proposed transfer of three million dollars from a bond reserve fund to relieve the Highway Department of a temporary financial light.

Cornett and other fiscal officers indicated they thought a meeting of the state Board of Finance might be necessary to authorize the transfer even though no legislative act was required.

The Highway Department officially requested the transfer July Friday in a letter to Cornett.

Cornett said the request was "handed to me about 10 minutes before I left the Capitol" Friday and added that he had just started checking into the situation today.

Chief Asst. Atty. Gen. Roy Finch Jr. had said the transfer would be legal and required no special legislative action.

Cornett said the transfer could be made in minutes "but I will have to give it some study. I just want to be sure I am protected."

Cornett said he would meet with the budget director and the secretary of the Board of Finance today to make certain the transfer would be in order.

Notice that the transfer application had been submitted by the Highway Commission was sent to Gov. Orval Faubus in a telegram from Chairman Glenn F. Wallace of Nashville.

"We want to urge that every effort be made to accomplish this without cutting the Legislature into special session," the telegram said.

Faubus has said the transfer could not be made without a legislative act and approval of bondholders.

Youths Head for Festival in Moscow

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of youths from points around the world headed for a festival in Moscow today but some of those who stayed home attracted more attention.

The Communist party youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda criticized some nations that it said had discouraged or even forbidden attendance at the youth festival.

The festival, one of a series in odd-numbered years, begins next Sunday and ends Aug. 11. The U. S. State Department has called it "an instrument of Communist propaganda."

A party of 400 French youth people sailed from Le Havre yesterday on the Soviet steamer Balkia. A surprise late addition to the party was Maurice Thorez, veteran Communist strongman and secretary general of the French Communist party.

A group of 15 students, teachers and musicians flew from New York after defection of another member, 16-year-old Sam Francisco, pianist Maureen Lundroth.

Miss Lundroth said, "I made my decision when I found out all about the festival." Her mother had telephoned her not to go after reading the State Department's comment.

The secretary of the U. S. Youth Festival Committee, Barbara Perry, 22, said before departing that she was no Communist. "If we want peace and understanding with the Russians, how are we going to understand them without meeting them?" she said.

The Communist youth paper was quoted by Radio Moscow as saying Pakistan, Japan, West Germany, Argentina, Thailand and the Sudan "are afraid" to send youths.

"Where is the danger?" the paper asked. "We do not fear competition."

"Our country, slandered by its enemies a hundred times, is boldly opening its doors and ready to show its way of life."

Zoo Meeting Not Romantic as Yet

DALLAS (AP) — Boy met girl in the zoo gorilla cage Saturday, but it didn't have much effect until yesterday when the girl tried the direct approach — a good right hand to the chops.

Zoo officials hope it will result eventually in a family, something that doesn't happen often.

Jenny, a 3-year-old fresh from the Canary Islands, moved in on 2-year-old Jimmy Saturday. But he ignored her until, to the delight of a Sunday zoo crowd, she slapped him this way and that.

Now Jimmy pays attention, but zoo director Pierre Fontaine said they had plenty of time anyway, because gorillas don't mature until about 10.

Distress Signal Brings Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Coast Guard cutter and rescue plane searched an Atlantic Ocean area off Cape Hatteras today for the source of a mysterious distress signal, reporting a ship sinking to show assignment of a call.

At least three ships reported hearing the signal giving the call letters CLFH, which would indicate a ship of Cuban registry.

But Coast Guard records failed members of a sleeping family to any vessel.

Silver was held in $1,500 bail for a hearing Thursday.

A nurseryman, Werners said, had been told the trunk may have leaked up on water during the heavy spring rains.

SENTENCED TO DIE

UTSUONIMIYA, Japan (AP) — Two Koreans were sentenced to death today for a mass murder they committed 11 years ago.

Pak Yul Keun, 41, and Choi Ki Son, 39, broke into a store in Ulsan May 1, 1946, murdered 15 people, stole money and clothing, then looted a store at a nearby market. They burned the store and six neighboring houses.

Police said Pak was arrested last year and Choi was arrested in the Ulsan killings and named Pak as an accomplice.

THE STORY: In an effort to learn where Pete Dorsey is held prisoner by the Clement brothers, who are believed to be planning to kill him, Pike Ambrose takes marshal Horney Blanchard to see the widow of Barney Jethroe. Barney died as a result of Pete's cowardice some years ago and the Clements, friends of Jethroe, seek to punish Pete.

CHAPTER VII

When we reached the livery, Blanchard stopped. "We ought to get out of town a while, Pike. Need a couple of horses."

"Sure. I own a couple."

"Good. Let's saddle up."

"Well... one's a mule. But I'll ride him."

Blanchard grinned. "Good man. He might throw me."

Out in the daylight my mounts didn't look so good. Pilot was shaggy and low-eared no matter how much I did to smooth him out. Goliath was a mule and nothing but. But Pilot had plenty of bottom and I knew he'd been a real corker. Blanchard didn't say anything when I came out with Pilot. He didn't even grin like he was making fun in his mind. He just rubbed Pilot's nose and felt of the bit and then stepped up into the saddle as quick and smooth and easy as if he had an express pony under him.

"Thought we might look up the Clements, Pike."

I made sure I'd heard right and then I climbed down and started back into the barn.

Blanchard said, "Where you headed?"

"Get my Springfield."

"No need, I don't plan to throw down on them."

"Well... all right" I climbed back into the saddle. In gun trouble, I wouldn't be much help with that Jimmy old rifle, anyway. "You want to see their lay-out?"

"Let's go."

We headed out of town on the wagon road. Starting onto the river slope I saw the ferry at the near bank waiting for customers.

I wondered if we hadn't ought to use the ford instead. I didn't have much time for the ferryman, Nev Hawk, and I didn't want to listen to my remarks from him about my mule. Hawk had run the ferry as long as I could remember. It was the best business in Blue Springs. He got four bits for every rider that crossed and a dollar for a wagon. In the buffalo season when the Clements' hide wagons were rolling, Hawk made plenty of money. Downstream a quarter mile from the ferry was Rocky Ford. Year around you had to be careful. More than one good horse had broke a leg on the rocks there. You could take a light wagon across but you stood a good ford. Ferry costs four bits."

"Might get four bits' good out of it."

I didn't want Blanchard to think I was afraid of Hawk so I didn't say any more. We rode onto the landing and onto the ferry, our chance of breaking a wheel.

I said, "We could cross at the mounts stepping light-footed but loud on the planks. Hawk moved toward us and Blanchard flipped him a dollar, then climbed down. Hawk was a big man with a thick blacken set of whiskers. He wore the only sea captain's cap in Nebraska and it was about to rot off his head.

Blanchard said, "Last night, after the train, was there a bunch of riders that used your ferry?"

"No special bunch last night?"

Hawk shook his head. Then he went into the shack and pushed a lever. The wheel slowed up, then stopped. The barge bumped hard into the south landing. We mounted and rode off.

The Clements' hide camp was out by the river close to Buffalo Basin. I figured that if Blanchard wanted the Clements, that's where he'd find them, gutting their wagons and hunting gear ready for the season. They had two little cabins and a bunkhouse by a grove of cottonwoods. They lived there just during the season. Spring and summer they spent in town, living between the Prairie Haven and Carey's Saloon.

"They say the Clement boys are mad mulets easy," I said.

"Dan, especially."

"Then I'll step light. No trouble this trip, if it's my say. They're probably a mile confused this morning. Until they make up their minds, they won't be ready for trouble."

I made sense, as far as it went. If getting inside of rifle distance of the Clements ever made sense, I'd have to trust Blanchard. Even trusting him, though, I could feel my stomach jumping on a little more with every stride Goliath took. The road reached out across the prairie almost straight until it split off just outside The Narrows. The south fork went off 50 miles to the county seat. The other fork followed the river through The Narrows into Buffalo Basin.

I saw to the east the tall grass around the big slough and an old windmill and what was left of a been a soddy there once. I thought about the folks who'd tried to scratch that farm out of buffalo grass. You could find a hundred more dead places like it around Blue Springs. Some folks were driven out by cattlemen, others got tired of fighting drought and blizzard, others decided there would never be a way to get crops to market, even if they could get crops. A quarter mile from here the Clements lived.

I could see the yard with the wagons strung around and the men, 30 or so, horsing wheels around, jugging harness, sitting on boxes in the shade, honing, skinning knives.

"You wanted Clements," I said.

"This is where they ought to be."

Kiwanians Plan Picnic for Little, Minor Loop Players

The Hope Kiwanis Club will fete the ball players of the Little League and the Minor League at a picnic at Fair Park tomorrow, Tuesday noon, July 23.

Norman Moore and "Doc" Sam Strong, active Kiwanians, are officers of the Little League and supervised the expenditure of the $500.00 improvement program this year.

Kiwanian Dewey Beber is in charge of arrangements and preparation for tomorrow's picnic.

Others serving on this committee are: J. W. Franks, Henry Semmens, Arch Wylie, "Pap" Willis, Norman Moore, Kenneth Hamilabout three years at the federal prison for women here.

All Little Leaguers, Minor Leaguers, managers, umpires, and Kiwanians are expected to comprise a sizable group numbering about 150 persons. A full attendance and turn out is urged by the Kiwanis Club.

Sgt. Brillhart was stationed at an African base in what now is a part of Ethiopia when the three children died between November 1932 and December 1933. The court found she killed them by "dropping them on their heads."

Sources close to the case have said privately that she probably broke under the strain of living in a remote area.

Brillhart said he and his wife will go to Columbus, Ohio, to visit their 6-year-old daughter Diane, then move into family quarters at Sandia base near Albuquerque, N.M., where he is stationed.

Diane has been staying with his parents at Columbus since the trial.

Brillhart said he and his wife prison for an hour and a half yesterday. He said little to the crowd of both American and British newsmen who tried to question him except to reaffirm his love for her. He was dressed in civilian clothes and appeared nervous.

Israeli Awaits Fate of Ship in the Canal

By ELIAV SIMON

JERUSALEM, Israel, (UP) — Israel today anxiously awaited news of the fate of the Israeli-chartered ship Brigitta-Tof which was scheduled to enter the Suez Canal this morning in an unofficial test of Egypt's blockade.

Hull, Blyth, agents for the ship, said in Cairo the ship was 14 hours overdue. They said the Tof reported twice during the journey from Rangoon to Suez having a fire in the engine room but that no serious damage or casualties occurred.

The 355-ton Danish ship was en route to the Israeli Port of Haifa from Burma with a cargo of rice. It was on Egypt's blacklist because last spring it became the first major vessel to use the Gulf of Aqaba and Israel's newly developed Port of Eilat.

The Aqaba sea route was opened when Israel cleared the Sinai peninsula and Tiran and Sanafir islands at the mouth of the Gulf last fall. Egypt had leased the two islands controlling the Strait of Tiran from Saudi Arabia.

Israeli sources said the two islands were still unoccupied although there have been reports Saudi Arabia was placing guns there to renew the blockade. The Sinai shore opposite the islands is held now by troops of the U. N. Emergency Force.

Israeli officials said they were planning counter action should Egypt hold up or confiscate the cargo or prevent Suez Canal passage. But they said action would be limited to political moves, probably in the Security Council.

All sides seemed to be in agreement, however, that an old Reconstruction era law permitting the President to use the armed forces to carry out court orders in civil rights cases should be repealed.

Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Humphrey (D-Minn), leaders in the fight for the civil rights bill, joined in offering an amendment to do this. The amendment is expected to be voted on during the day.

Adoption of this amendment would be the first Senate change in the bill passed by the House. It also would represent a concession to Southern senators who protested that, under the wording of the bill, the old troop-authority law could be used to force school integration and other mixing of the races on the South "at bayonet point."

The bill's supporter replied that President Eisenhower had made clear there was no intention of using troops to enforce the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

They accused the Southerners of throwing up a "smoke-screen" argument, but they said they had no objection to repealing the old law.

In the Senate debate so far, the principal controversy has centered about Part 3 of the bill. This would authorize the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of civil rights in general.

Similar authority is provided in another section for the protection of voting rights. Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court with a jury trial.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have offered an amendment to strike out Part 3 of the bill, and present indications are that the Senate may vote on this tomorrow. If adopted, it would tend to limit the bill to enforcement of voting rights.

Adams had been living together with two of her eight children for some time. The two men shook hands and had coffee together before she and Adams left Saturday night.

But when Adams returned and entered the house to get a drink of water, Feazell rammed the backshot - loaded gun into his stomach and said, "I'm going to kill you."

Adams pushed aside the gun as Feazell pulled the trigger. Wounded, Adams fled down the street calling for help.

Feazell caught Mrs. Hankins in the doorway. His first shot tore off part of her hand. As she begged for life, he dropped her with a second shot.

He leaned over and told the lifeless Mrs. Hankins he loved her and "I'll die beside you," then turned the gun to his own head and fired.

DOROTHY DIX

He May Be a Tightwad, But His Mother Still Loves Him

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a family of four children, all married. Our problem concerns one brother and his wife. They're great ones for spending money to make a splash but can get pretty stingy with the family.

Moth and Dad live alone on a small pension. Three of us help with financial extras, but Harold never tosses in a dollar. Mother loves to have any of us for dinner. When the rest of us go to her, we bring a couple of chickens, a leg of lamb, or something else substantial that will last a day or two. Harold contributes three kids with big appetites!

How can we make this pair realize that Mom can't afford to entertain free-loaders?

MRS. G. F.: It's quite evident that you three are very attached to your parents. Do you want to prove it? Let matters lie! Don't say anything to your miserly brother and try to say nothing among yourselves. This, my dear, is pure devotion — probably the most difficult kind.

Parents love all their children — the generous and the tight; the kind and the unkind; the good and the bad. If you make an issue of Harold's stinginess your mother will be hurt.

Don't kid yourself that Mom doesn't realize her son's failings. She's merely saving face by pretending not to see them. Go thou and do likewise!

Dear Dorothy Dix: In marriage, what is the role of the husband and what is the role of the wife? Can you give as detailed an outline as possible? JANE C.

Dear Jane: I could give details to fill a book, but it's not necessary. In the marriage ceremony each person makes promises to the other. Keeping these promises is the lifelong duty of both. Read the marriage service and your question will be answered.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several weeks ago I invited a fellow to my Junior Prom. He accepted and we had a wonderful time. However, he hasn't called me since. I like him very much and would appreciate more dates with him. How can I get them? MINERVA

Dear Minerva: You've had it, I'm afraid. The boy evidently wasn't interested enough to continue the friendship. You had one delightful evening, anyway, and perhaps your paths will cross again. All you can do is hope.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have spent the three years of our married life living with his brother and sister-in-law. Now he wants to buy his own home. I don't feel ready. — GERALDINE

Dear Geraldine: Well, here's a switch! Rarely do I hear of a girl who'd rather live with in-laws than have her own home. Instead of changing your husband, change your own viewpoint. A home of your own would be the best thing for you.

Brazil is practically the only source of beautiful quantities of high-grade quartz crystal, important in precision instruments.

Body of Baby Is Found on Farm

KINSETT, (AP) — The body of a newborn baby was found yesterday on a farm four miles east of here, White County Sheriff Jack Price reported today.

Price said a 35-year-old woman was being held pending completion on an investigation.

Coroner Elvis Daniel said the body was sent to Little Rock for an autopsy.

Son of Comic Has Talk With Pope Pius

VATICAN CITY, (UP) — Nine-year-old Richard Skelton fingered a silver papal medal today and for once, he didn't laugh at his father's jokes.

He received the medal from Pope Pius XII during a 30-minute private audience yesterday morning during which the pontiff received Comedian Red Skelton, Richard, his sister Valentina, 11, and Skelton's wife.

The pope had read about Skelton's voyage to show his son the splendors of the world before death from leukemia overtook him and he immediately granted the family's request for an audience.

This took the red-haired Richard and sat him on his left behind the mahogany topped desk where he receives kings and statesmen. On his right he sat Richard's sister.

He made no mention of Richard's illness, but told them "life is eternal because of God."

"So," he said, "if life is taken away from one person in a family they are never separated because the family will always live together in eternal life with God."

Then the pope gave Richard the silver medal.

Skelton said it was "the most moving thing I've ever seen in my life."

"It was the cleanest feeling I've ever had," he said. "It was like walking into a room full of flowers."

Puts Redlegs Double Victory Back in Running

By RED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Redlegs were being counted out of the National League race a week ago, but they're right back in the thick of it today because of their surprising ability to cope with doubleheaders.

The experts figured Birdie Tebbetts' "patch-work" pitching staff would buckle under the pressure of the bargain bills.

The Redlegs, however, roared back into solid contention when they whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2 and 6-4, yesterday and now show a remarkable 11th place record for doubleheaders.

They've swept eight and split two of their 11 bargain bills.

The latest sweep — giving the Redlegs seven wins in nine games since they ended a seven-game losing streak on July 12 — lifted the Redlegs behind the first-place Braves. The Phillies, jolted by six losses in their last seven games, fell 3 1/2 games off the pace.

The Braves bounced back from a 5-4 loss to down the New York Giants, 7-4, and retain their one-game lead over the Dodgers, who beat the Chicago Cubs, 7-2, after a 3-4 setback, while the third-place St. Louis Cardinals, downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3, and led, 11-2, when their nightcap was suspended in the ninth inning by the Pennsylvania curfew law.

The Chicago White Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox, 3-0, and moved to within 4 1/2 games of first place in the American League when the New York Yankees split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians. The Yankees won the opener, 4-3, but bowed in the nightcap, 7-4, before 51,670 fans. The Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 6-5, and the Kansas City Athletics scored a 3-2 victory after losing, 7-2, to the Baltimore Orioles in other A. L. games.

Brooks Lawrence gained credit for his 11th win for the Redlegs in the opener with the add of homers by George Crowe and Gus Bell and Art Fowler picked up his first win in the nightcap as Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Roy McMillan had three hits each. Robin Roberts was tagged with his seventh straight loss.

Shortstop Johnny Logan lashed Braves to their victory after Hank Sauer's two-run, ninth-inning single enabled the Giants to take the opener. Willie Mays and Ray Jablonski homered to Kaye Lew Burdette in the nightcap but Ernie Johnson came on to win his sixth game. Stu Miller won his fourth game for the Giants.

Cle Labine pitched five shut-out relief innings to notch his fifth victory for the Dodgers, after homers by Wally Moryn, Chuck Tanner and Lee Walls helped hand Carl Erskine his second defeat. Mike Drabowsky, celebrating his 22nd birthday, won his sixth game for the Cubs although he needed help in the late innings.

Don Blasingame knocked in four runs to spark the Cardinals in their opener. The suspended nightcap which will be completed Aug. 27, Willard Schmidt won his eighth straight game for the Redbirds in the opener.

Jim Wilson followed up Saturday's non-hitter by Dick Donovan with a three-hitter that gave the White Sox their second straight shutout victory over the Red Sox. Wilson had a no-hitter for six innings before Frank Malzone broke the spell with a single and scored his 10th win.

Bob Avila's bases-filled triple in the sixth inning was the big blow for the Indians who played before their biggest home crowd in two years. Homers by Gil McDougald and Elston Howard plus Bob Grim's classy relief job gave the Yankees the opener and they led into the last of the sixth of the nightcap with the help of Mickey Mantle's 25th homer of the year. Ray Narleski, relief ace of the Tribe, went all the way in the second game to win his sixth game.

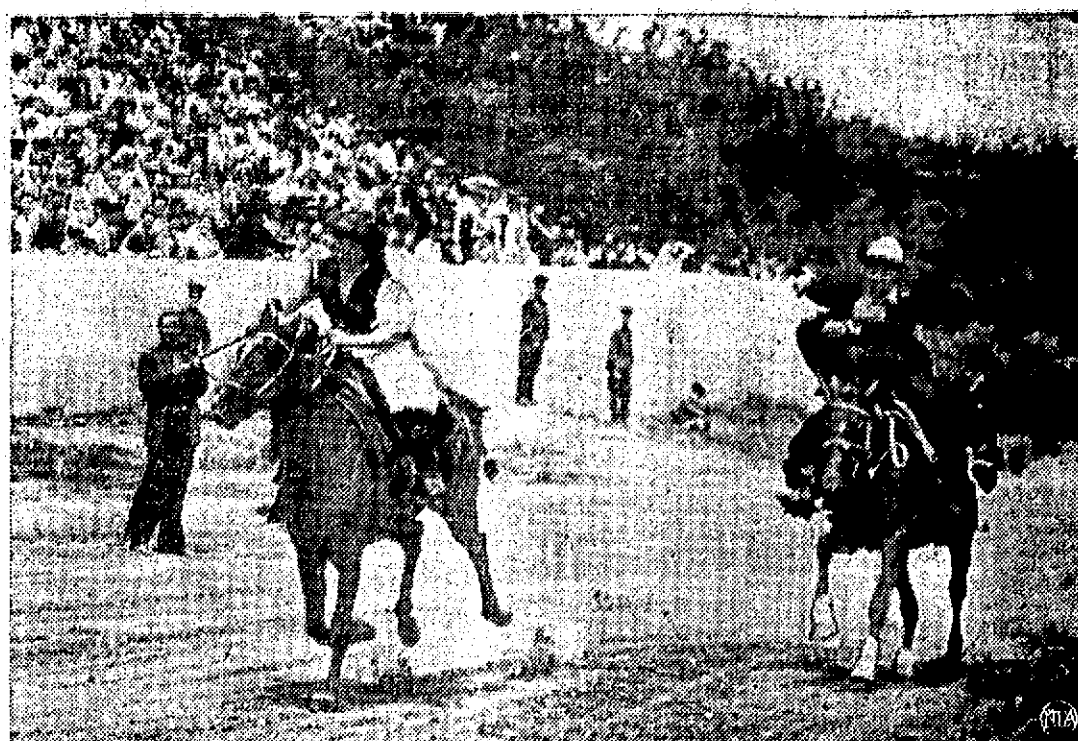

Rookie Jim Heise walked in the winning run in the 10th inning after the Tigers tied the score at 5-5 with three ninth-inning runs. The victory went to Harry Byrd, his third for the Tigers in less than a month.

Bob Cerv's two-run pinch homer in the seventh inning gave the Athletics their triumph after Hector Brown scattered six hits for the Orioles in the first game. Tito Francona and Joe Ginzburg hit homers for the Orioles in the first game while George Kell and Bob Niuman homered in the nightcap.

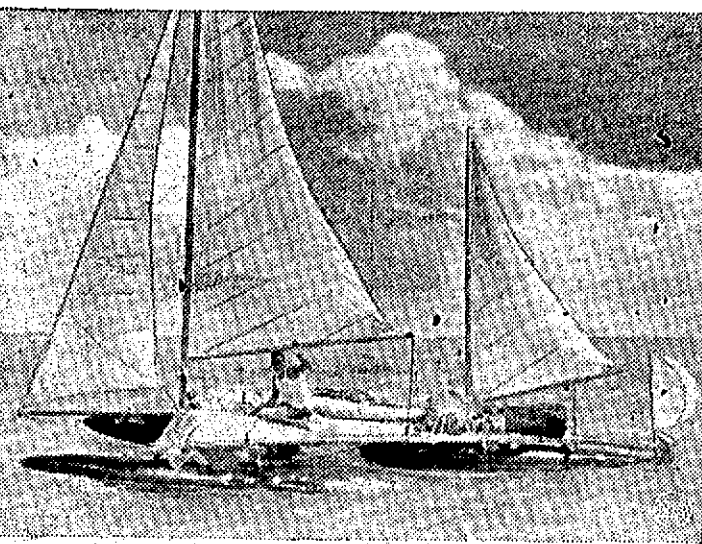

DOGS CHASE OFF BULL
TOULOUSE, France, (UP) — An iron horse met its match near here and had to be rescued by some shaggy dogs.

An enraged bull challenged the Fox-Toulouse passenger train Saturday night charging and running the engine repeatedly. The passengers and crew did not dare step outside to drive the animal off but several dogs appeared and finally chased the bull.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT—Although only a six-month-old gorilla, "Jimmy Doe" is pretty quick on the uptake. Given a spoon with his bowl of cereal (left), he was puzzled by the strange device. But he got the idea right away and he's seen at right feeding himself for the first time. Jimmy's the latest acquisition of the Dallas, Tex., zoo.

Woman Hating Idea of His Press Agent

HOLLYWOOD — After all these years, George Sanders admits that his woman-hating reputation was the creation of a press agent.

"It was all George Sanders' idea for 'The Moon and Sixpence' and I just went along with it," he told a reporter.

Glass, now a producer, had a hand in some of such Hollywood publicity ideas as the search for Sandra Gifford and the five year building of June Russell before she ever was seen on the screen.

In "The Moon and Sixpence" a Somerset Maugham story based on the artist Gauguin, Sanders played a woman like a dirty dish.

Glass arranged an interview with Sanders called all women "bitchy little beasts." Over the years, Sanders built the myth into a legend.

He mellowed a little when he married Zsa Zsa Gabor. Then he stated: "Whereas I used to be conflictual on the subject of women, my marriage to Zsa Zsa has made me merely confused."

Zsa Zsa has long debunked Sanders' woman hating rep.

"George, even now, loves me. And I'm a woman. If I ever marry again, it will be George. He's the only husband I ever really loved."

Sanders, while admitting that he liked women, said what he really hates is being married to them.

"Marriage," he says, "is a throwback to the Victorian age. I've always contended that the marriage license should be issued the same as a driver's license, subject to expiration and renewal."

George also denies that he is the trio actor type.

"It has just been a livelihood to me," he says. "Personally, I would have preferred at the start of my career to have taught

Should Let Audience See 'Color Girl'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — If life is just one big quiz program, with many contesting and very few winning, then Marilyn Toomey feels that she has reached what she calls "the first plateau."

For NBC-TV as selected her as its "color girl" in New York. And what is a color girl? She's the girl you don't see. Before a color television program goes on the air she stands in front of the color cameras while technicians focus their lenses on her and fuss and fume until they have attained the perfect purity of color they seek for a program.

It's really too bad you don't see Miss Toomey because she's worth a look. She's a brown-eyed brunette standing 5 feet 3 and weighing

A. T. and T. stock and then join on the beach and watched it go up. Amazingly, I would now have more money to show than I have for 20 years of acting.

L. R. Board to Integrate as Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock School Board says in effect that federal integration policy supersedes Arkansas Segregation laws and anyone who doesn't like the situation can go to court to try and change it.

That was the gist of a 4-page document released by Supt. Virgil Blossom Saturday—apparently as an answer to increasing criticism of the board's "gradual integration" plan, which calls for racial mixing on the high school level this fall.

"Whenever the laws of a state clash with those of the United States, the former must give way," said the statement by five attorneys of the school board. "Those who say state laws permitting segregation are 'supreme' simply refuse to read that which is plainly written."

The Little Rock integration plan has been upheld in federal courts. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has indicated it will not press its earlier demand for full and immediate integration.

Blossom said the lawyers' advice was not intended as an answer to the Rev. Wesley Pruden, a Baptist minister here, and segregationist attorney Amis Guthridge of Little Rock.

Guthridge has declared the board legally is required to provide separate schools for white students who do not want to integrate. The Rev. Mr. Pruden has asked about the social consequences of planned integration.

Blossom said both men "will receive in writing specific answers to their specific questions."

Margaret's Friend Being Transferred

LONDON (AP) — The current favorite of Princess Margaret is being transferred to Cyprus within two weeks.

The War Office labeled the charge a routine assignment but friends called it a surprise.

Lord Patrick Beresford, 23, a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards for four years, has completed his tour of duty in Britain and is now due for overseas service, the War Office said.

Rumors last week had his engagement to the 26-year-old princess in the offing. The Daily Express said, "The constant association of his name with the princess has caused the palace officials acute embarrassment."

The paper commented that "being a friend of the princess seems to be becoming a qualification for a ticket to far-off places."

A palace aide, Group Capt. P. plateau of her young life quite by accident. After graduating last year from Staley College in Brookline, Mass., where she majored in drama, she came to New York.

"I don't know anything about the hard times in New York," she says, "or I'd have taken a job offered me at the Cleveland Playhouse."

Her break came when she happened to do a TV closed circuit commercial and a technician observed the perfection of her skin on camera. He informed NBC, which was seeking a new color girl.

"I like being a color girl," she says, "and I want to be known as that. Yes, I want to act on television, but I don't want to be in a hurry. Now, at least, I have my foot in the door."

Senators in Favor of a Court Trial

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment among senators willing to state their position at this time is running heavily in favor of some form of jury trial amendment to the administration's civil rights bill.

An Associated Press canvass of 92 of the Senate's present 93 members showed that of 67 willing to disclose their views, 41 now want some provision for jury trials. The other 26 are opposed to any such change in the House-passed bill.

It all senators voted—as is seldom the case—48 votes would be required to place such an amendment in the bill.

Southern opponents of the measure have centered their attack on a provision under which the attorney general could seek injunctions to enforce civil rights with no jury trials provided for violators of court orders.

As the bill stands this procedure would apply both to cases involving voting rights and to those under which the bill's adversaries say federal efforts could be made to enforce racial integration of schools and on public places in the South.
